

Provider Notice

Mental health providers have a significant role to play in the assessment, monitoring, and prevention of suicide. Magellan works with providers to strengthen this critical facet of practice and support you in consistent and thorough suicide risk assessment.

Magellan offers a variety of provider trainings and resources related to suicide risk assessment. All providers have access to free Relias Learning training through www.MagellanProvider.com.

Providers can access topics like suicide prevention, suicide screening and risk factors, suicide assessment, treatment and management, adolescent suicide, and others.

These trainings are free to providers and also offer Continuing Education (CE) credits recognized by national accreditation and certification bodies.

Magellan encourages providers to explore other resources such as the Zero Suicide <http://zerosuicide.sprc.org>, which seeks to reduce the incidence of suicide to zero. The website offers a toolkit, resources, videos, readings and webinars which can be accessed for free.
